

Rob Schofield M.Sc. MIET AAPM is an Electronics Engineer, with a long career in Software Engineering and Design, and is an experienced Engineering Manager. He studied at Leeds University and The Queen's University of Belfast and is a Postgraduate in Solid State Electronics to Master of Science. Additionally, he maintains long-term studies with the Open University. Working for large British and European companies around the UK and in Europe over a career spanning 40 years, he holds two patents and has trained as an Engineering Project Manager. He now works as a freelance associate in the role of Consultant Engineer in Software, Testing and Design services. In addition to his responsibilities as a Councillor for Wareham, he is also a Parish Councillor for Sandford St. Martin, and is a senior school governor at Bayside Academy in Poole. His hobbies include long-distance running, reading, music, amateur dramatics, stage sound and lighting, the cinema, cars and motorbikes, and far too many other time-consuming passions.